Dear Brother:-

In regard to the legal document which I sent you sometime ago pertaining to royalties on denominational books I desire to say that my wish is that you should take charge of this matter completely, beginning with the first of the year. The Southern Publishing Asso. has been feeling somewhat grouchy over the business and I think it is best for us to arrange <sup>it</sup> ~~any~~ some way, so that you will be the party with whom they will deal. I am willing to pay whatever time and expense it takes with your bookkeeper to attend to the matter.

Now it seems to me it would be a good thing to later have some arrangement with the publishing houses, by which this matter will be properly taken care of. In fact I see no reason why they should not distribute royalties as <sup>we</sup> ~~they~~ desire, but this we can take up later. Perhaps we can arrange with some individual at each place to look after it, and then make reports ~~for~~ for each month, or at the time when royalties are declared. You might be thinking of a plan and I will write you more definitely in a very short time.

As ever your brother,

J. C. White
