Dear Brethren:

It has come to my attention that some irresponsible persons have stated that I had declared that there exists a certain black book in possession of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination which discredits the life and ministry of Ellen G. White.

I am delighted to go on record that I have never made such a statement, never saw any such book, and do not know of the existence of any such material.

I believe that I have seen all the material in the Ellen G. White Library in Washington bearing on these disputed areas of Mrs. White's ministry, and no such data exists.

Of course, there are areas where I disagree as a researcher with some of the conclusions concerning Mrs. White expressed in Adventist publications, some of which I have stated in my book The Truth About Seventh-Day Adventism. However, as to the charge by certain persons that information is being suppressed which would tend to blacken Mrs. White, so far as I am concerned this is not true.

Sincerely yours,

WRM:aec
