THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS
Washington 25, D.C.

Office of the Law Librarian of Congress

November 6, 1964

Gentlemen:

It has come to the attention of the Library of Congress that a book distributed by you and entitled, "The Desire of Ages" contains the following notation:

"W. E. Bement of the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C., when asked to make his personal selection of the more than 10,000 volumes written on the life of Christ in the last 300 years, had this to say, 'My preference of choice would be guided by what I wished to get from the book or books to be read. Let me put it this way--I would put DESIRE OF AGES, by Ellen G. White, first for spiritual discernment and practical application. I will say that the DESIRE OF AGES is well thought of in the Library of Congress.'"

No person of that name is employed at the Library of Congress, although, prior to 1953, a Wells E. Bement was employed as a sub-professional assistant. If this is the person referred to by you, he was not, before his retirement, nor is he now, authorized to speak for the Library of Congress, or use its name for promotional purposes, however worthy he may consider them to be.

In view of the above, you are requested to omit any statement or implication that the Library endorses "The Desire of Ages," whether this be in the book itself or in any material accompanying it.

Sincerely yours,

Lewis C. Coffin,
Law Librarian and General Counsel
